CAR BUILDERS OBJECT TO RAIL COMPETITION

CHARGE ROADS ASSURE SHOPS OF MONOPOLY

Allege Accounts Prescribed by Commission Fail to Show
True Costs

SEVENTEEN JOIN IN PLEA

Railroad Eventually Will Become "Mammoth of Unrestricted Activity"

By Associated Press
Chicago—Seventeen corporations operating plants for the rebuilding of freight cars have filed with the Interstate Commerce commission a protest against the commission's encouragement of manufacturing by railroads.

They charged that as a railroad can assure its own shops a monopoly of its own work, a situation results which eliminates competition and does not encourage economy. The accounts prescribed by the commission and that the accounts in their present form would conceal the loss.
A specific request is made for a revision of the carrier's accounting system to a basis which "will show
true costs for these operations."

CAN DRAIN INCOME
The car builders' attorneys think that much of the gross income from transportation could be drained away by this incident work. In railroad shops and that the accounts in their present form would conceal the loss.
A specific request is made for a revision of the carrier's accounting
system to a basis which "will show
true costs for these operations."

If the carriers build excess shops for car repairing and construction, the petition contends, these shops are not likely to be permitted to stand idle and they will be the placing of the work at an outside shop even though it may be equipped to handle it more economically. To keep such shops occupied, manufacturing operations could be extended to still other items which specialists now make, the car builders assert, thus perpetuating a policy of duplication, taking business away from those who originally earned it by efficient service, and eventually making of a railroad a mammoth of unrestricted activities.

HARM'S INTERESTS
Such a situation, the petition claims, is contrary to the best interests of American private institutions and not essentially different from absorption by the government of numerous commercial activities.

The companies signing the petition were: Buffalo Steel Car Co., Buffalo, N. Y.; the Ryan Car Co., Chicago,
Ill.; Illinois Car and Manufacturing Co., Chicago; Interstate Car Co.; Indianapolis; General American Car Co.,
Chicago; the Ralston Steel Car Co.,

SNOWFALL VARIES HEAT IN VIRGINIA AS WEST SWELTERS

By Associated Press
Chicago—While many areas of the country continued to swelter under a tenacious heat wave, the weatherman varied his offerings Monday in a rather surprising manner with a short fall of snow at Blacksburg, Va. The white showers followed a thunderstorm and lasted five minutes.
The weather freak brought no comfort, however, to the parched summer lands of the middle west and the Rocky mountain region, where the thermometers apparently were in a race to overstep the century mark.
Phoenix, Ariz., a veteran in temperature climbing, again led the country Monday reaching 112. Temperatures ranging from 90 to 100 were recorded throughout the humid area. The death toll continued to mount, 14 additional fatalities being reported. In addition five persons were killed by lightning and three were drowned. Twenty or more were prostrated.

IDENTIFIES BODY AS THAT OF SON

Duluth Man Recognizes Air Service Captain Killed
Early in 1923

By Associated Press
Aurora, Ill.—After lying in an unmarked grave for more than two years, the handless, mutilated body of a man found in a snowdrift near Geneva, Ill., Feb. 23, 1923, has been identified by John R. MacLachlan of Duluth, Minn., as his son Lynn, 30, a captain in the air service during the World war. Mr. MacLachlan last saw his son at Fox lake in August, 1922.
He thought he was still alive and expected to hear from him, although he read newspaper accounts of the finding of the body and remarked that the description was that of his son.
Urged by John G. Ross, St. Louis-co, Minn., humane officer, to investigate the father obtained an order for the disinterment of the body and was positive in his identification.
For weeks after the body was found,
Geneva and Aurora authorities endeavored to find clues to its identity.
The hands had been cut off and the face partly burned away. There was a shrapnel wound in one leg. It had long, slim feet, bushy hair and close set ears. The mystery was unsolved when it was buried. The father planned to take the body to Los Angeles for burial.
The father could advance no motive for the son's slaying.

PARTY SUCCEEDS IN MOUNT LOGAN CLIMB
By Associated Press
Cordova, Alaska—Mount Logan, 19, 350 feet high, has been ascended by adventurers. The party accomplished the unprecedented feat of scaling the peak after months of preparation and Tuesday were returning to civilization.
Mount Logan is located in Yukon territory.
Mount Logan has been considered second only to Mount Everest in formidable natural barriers.
No details were available as to the final stages of the ascent.
The expedition, which consisted of eight members headed by Captain A.
H. McCarthy, left Cordova on May 8.

DAYTON WITHOUT LIGHTS
Dayton, Tenn.—Dayton was laid in darkness for several hours Monday night as a result of a break in the town's water main. The municipal power plant is operated by water power and until the break could be repaired the scene of the Scopes trial was without lights.

The local shops sold out their supplies of candles which flickered feebly along the chief thoroughfares in the wind.
The prosecution counsel includes two McKenzies, two Hicks and two Bryans. Ben T. McKenzie is a former attorney general of this, the Eightteenth judicial circuit, and is one of the most widely known lawyers in eastern Tennessee. His son J. Gordon

In the scramble for chairs the prosecution seems to be qualifying as the "goat." When Attorney General Stewart left his seat Monday to look at a document, someone appropriated his chair in his absence. At the afternoon session, Judge Gordon Mc-Kenzie and Walter C. Haggard of state counsel were left S. R. O. positions. Sheriff Harris came to the rescue. The seating problem had the genial sheriff on the run.

CAL HOPES TO SETTLE DEBTS BY DECEMBER

Coolidge Seeks to Have Settlements Ready for Next Congress

EXPECT BELGIUM FIRST

Reduction in Interest and Rates Only Flexibility to Be Offered

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1925 by the Post Pub. Co.
Swampscott, Mass.—President Coolidge hopes to be able to present to the next session of congress, which meets in December, a settlement of all outstanding debts owed the United States by the principal allied countries.

This is the objective toward which American diplomacy is working now that the secretary of state, Frank Kellogg, has had a long conference on the subject with the chief executive.

Belgium is expected to settle first, then France and then Italy, with settlements about the same time from Czechoslovakia, Lithuania and some of the other countries.

Two outstanding ideas now have been conveyed to the European debtors as the irreducible minimum of American terms.
WON'T CUT PRINCIPAL
First, there will be no reduction on the principal. The sacredness of international obligation, indeed, the sacredness of contracts is involved in a fulfillment by the allies of the pledge they made to repay the United States when the sums were borrowed.
Second, a reduction in the amounts of interest due and the interest rate is the only flexibility which the United States can possibly offer as an answer to the plea of the allies that "ability to pay" should be taken into consideration by their creditor, the United States.

SEEK QUICK ACTION
Thus every effort is being used to persuade the foreign governments that they had best make their settlements between now and the next session of congress. It is pointed out that congress will not be in a better mood to approve debt agreements if they are presented in group than if each is taken up singly and too great a variation in terms is sought.

There also is a measure of good will involved in the willingness of the debtor countries to meet the American viewpoint of prompt settlement. The countries which co-operate now will not regret it.

COOLIDGE HOLDS CONTROL
From a political viewpoint no time is more favorable than the next session of congress. Mr. Coolidge has control of the situation now but there is no telling what might be the case if party lines should later be drawn and a debt settlement made by the executive rejected by a congress controlled partly by another political party.

The biggest factor of all, however,
is the plain talk that has been conveyed politely to the foreign governments that America will not sanction credits in this country any further unless debt settlements are made, while this may sound harsh, it is considered by American officials to be sound economic policy even from the viewpoint of foreign governments.

BOY CALM AS HE TELLS OF SLAYING MAN

Youth, Less Than 15, Un-

MURDERED FOR MONEY

Slayer Changes First Story
That He Killed in Spirit of Revenge

By Associated Press
Negawee, Mich.—Gruesome and shocking details of one of the most cold blooded and deliberate murders ever recorded here came to light Tuesday in the alleged confession of Fred Ross, Jr., not quite 15 years old, that he shot and killed Joseph LaPlante a blueberry merchant, last Friday afternoon near the Chicago and Northwestern railroad tracks near the west end of Goose lake as LaPlante was returning to his cabin near Cascade Junction with food supplies.

In his alleged rambling confession, young Ross attempted to involve several other persons, including his younger brother and a woman, according to officers.
At the end of his confession, the youth led city and county officers to a pile of ties at the foot of the railroad embankment, where, he said, he rolled LaPlante's body after he had murdered him.

WATCHES SEARCH COLDLY
Later he directed officers to a slough where he said he had buried the rifle.
The rifle was found by officers within a few minutes. Young Ross, with no evidence of remorse or emotion, watched the search for the weapon unconcerned as though he were merely a spectator of rather than the principal in the tragedy.

When an officer suggested to the boy that he go into the water and search for the rifle, he answered,
"Me go into that slime up to my neck? Not much."
Nor did the youth give any evidence of shame or regret when the officers uncovered the murdered man's corpse.

Ross was taken into custody Saturday, before the murder was known, when it was learned that he had been flourishing money. The youth was on probation, following his participation in another robbery at Cascade Junction.

In his confession to police the youth said he had shot LaPlante to get his money. Previously he told police he had killed the man because of alleged mistreatment.

FASCISTS BEAT UP LAWYERS OF SAVANT WHO INSULTED KING

New York—Professor Gaetano
Salvemini of the University of Florence, accused of slandering
King Victor Emmanuel and the Italian government, is on provisional liberty without bail after being held for five days awaiting trial which opened Monday. Overnight cable dispatches detailing this development in the sensational case at Florence also told of riotous scenes following the court hearing, when the lawyers for the accused savant were attacked by angry Fascists and beaten.

The charge against Professor Salvemini is based on articles appearing in the newspaper Non Coincidentally with the disturbance at Florence the King at Rome rendered an unprecedented honor to Premier Mussolini, the head of

BLAME HIRING OF JAPS FOR FRACAS

Delegation of Toledo Citizens
Calls on Governor and Sen-

Salem, Ore.—Grievances connected with the employment of Japanese labor at Toledo by the Pacific Spine corporation mill were voiced by a delegation from the Citizens League of Toledo which called on Governor
Pierce and United States Senator Mc-Nary here Monday.

The delegation headed by Mrs.
Rosemary Schneck, wife of the Toledo police chief, blamed the management of the mill for the condition there, pointing out that the Japanese were hired on the green chain gang at $2.40 a day where white laborers received $3.60 prior to being supplanted.
Men who protested against the use of Orientals were discharged, it was asserted. Reports of the disturbance Sunday when nearly a score of Japanese were taken out of the city in trucks, were exaggerated, the delegation told the governor and senator.

It was admitted that guns were taken from the armed guards at the mill and that there were a few fist fights.
The Japanese workers were not harmed.

Doubt Value Of Cancer Discovery In England

By Associated Press
New York—A London hatter by day with an all-absorbing hobby for microscopes by night, has made possible the perception of the infective agent of cancer. But New York authorities are inclined to doubt that the disease has been aken.

Dr. J. E. Barnard of Kings college, London, divides his time between his hat shop in the west end and his collection of microscopes. He went to the aid of Dr. William E. Gye, a member of the British institute of medical research, which was engaged in the study of cancer.

Through the powerful lens of one of Dr. Barnard's specially constructed microscopes, they saw and photographed the cancer virus.
Observations of these physicians, says the Lancet, the leading British medical journal, have progressed to such an extent that "the existence of the living cancer virus would appear to be established." New York scientists said Tuesday that the British development was the result of discoveries here.
Dr. Peyton Rouse of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research found that tumors in chickens were caused by an ultra-microscopic organism too small to be seen through the ordinary microscope. With Dr.
Hideo Noguchi, also of the Rockefeller institute, Dr. Rouse perfected an instrument known as the ultra-microscope, with which they found in a chicken a transmissible sarcoma with a tendency to multiply through the body.
From the sarcoma an emulsion was prepared. It was injected into the body of healthy fowl and produced cancerous conditions which in some cases resulted in death.

DARROW SAYS CUSTOM HITS SCOPES CAUSE

Counsel for Defense Claims Prayer Turns Court into Meeting House

JUDGE CITES PRECEDENT

Practice Creates Religious Atmosphere Prejudicial to Case

Dayton, Tenn.—Objection by Clarence Darrow, of defense counsel, to the daily custom of prayer in court created intense excitement for a few minutes at the short session of the trial of John T. Scopes here Tuesday morning.

Judge John T. Raulston, presiding, overruled the objection and then ordered a court recess until 1 o'clock that he might complete the preparation of his opinion on the motion of the defense to quash the indictment argued Monday. Soon after Judge Raulston, mounted the bench. Clarence Darrow stepped forward to say,
"I want to protest, your honor, at prayer being offered here daily in the presence of the jury in this case."

The defense continued, "I do not object to anyone praying in private, but I do object to this court being turned into a meeting house."

MALONE BACKS COLLEAGUE
Dudley Field Malone was just behind his colleague with an inquiry to the judge if it had always been the custom to have prayer in court ever day. "As a member of counsel for defense, who is not an agnostic, I said 'I desire to add by objection to daily prayer being offered here when it has not been an exacting and a broken custom in the past."

"I have every respect for what Mr. Darrow believes and does not believe," said the New York attorney.
"And I wish to offer objection as a member of defense counsel who is not an agnostic."

"We have talked this thing over in our chambers and believe that the opening with prayer is prejudicial to the interests of our case. We hold that this practice creates a religious atmosphere here which is harmful to our cause. Will the court say if this has been the practice without exception?"

ACCUSTOMED TO PRAY
Attorney General Stewart rose to say:

"This is a God-fearing community and we are accustomed to pray around here. It is the usual thing in this part of the country."

"And I would have you know,"
Mr. Malone broke in vehemently,
"that they are just as God-fearing where I come from as they are anywhere."

Judge Raulston broke in to say that the court did not want to be unreasonable to anyone. "But I believe I have the right. I am responsible for the conduct of the court. It has been my custom, since I have been judge to have prayer in court.
So I will overrule the objection."

Ben McKenzie suggested that the matter had been passed on by the supreme court.

Attorney General A. T. Stewart followed with an announcement that he would place the state's position in the record.

Arthur G. Hayes noted an exception to the statement "agnostic counsel" which brought Dudley Field Malone to the floor to state that he respected his colleague's right to believe or not as long as he was as honest in his belief as the speaker was in his belief.

INCREASE HOSTILITY
Speaking of prayers in court, Mr.
Malone said:

"They help to increase the atmosphere of hostility to our point of view which already exists in this community by widespread propaganda."
Mr. Darrow in making his exception said that he understood from the court himself that he sometimes opened the court with prayer and sometimes did not.

"This court has no purpose except to find the truth and do justice to all the issues involved in the case," said Judge Raulston, in closing the discussion.
"In answer to counsel for the defense as to my customs, I will say the several years I have been on the bench I have used my discretion in opening the court with prayer."
Judge Raulston told Mr. Darrow that he would have the record show his motion made and overruled every morning.

MUST PAY FOR SUCCESS WITH EARNEST WORK

Superintendent Rohan Tells Lions That Opportunities Always Are at Hand

"Every child holds his future in his hands. He can be whatever he wishes to be, or do that which he wishes to do, providing he is willing to pay the price," said B. J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, in an address to the Lions club at the weekly luncheon Monday noon at the Conway Hotel. Mr. Rohan defined the price of success as hard and intelligently directed effort toward a given goal. Many children who go through grade school, high school, and college, seem to think the world owes them a living after they have completed their education Mr. Rohan said. Their parents have sacrificed much to give them a good education, and the reason the parents usually give for making this sacrifice is to fully equip the children so they won't have to work and struggle as hard as the parents did to make a living. From this the children and others often get the idea that these children are some of a chosen few exempt from the struggle, strife and pain very often undergone in attaining success.

CITES SUCCESSFUL
Opportunity, said Mr. Rohan, lies mostly within ones self. It is the willingness to do, and perseverance in overcoming difficulties while striving for one's goal. Handicaps are simply means of spurring on ambitious people. As an illustration of this fact Mr. Rohan cited the life of Helen Keller, a woman who is deaf and blind, but who is highly educated largely through her own effort, and whose advice is sought by many.

Many people go about the country preaching that there is no opportunity, that people who work for wages are slaves, and that they have no chance to get ahead. A reason why many people do not get ahead in life according to Mr. Rohan is that multitudes of people are more than willing to believe just such talk. The agitators who go about the country peddling this kind of "bunk" are the people who are too lazy to make a decent and honest living themselves, and find their satisfaction in stirring up discontent and making other people miserable.

LOSE FAITH IN SELVES
People have a tendency to allow little handicaps and shortcomings to blind their vision, continued the speaker. They are inclined to make mountains out of mole hills, and clouds out of the smallest shadows. In this way people lose faith in themselves. Most everybody is blessed with all his faculties, a strong and healthy body, and a normally keen mind, but many people do not use these faculties to the greatest advantage. Everyone can do something, and do it well, said Mr. Rohan. The trouble with many people is that they have not set themselves to the task of winning the place in life they desire. Instead of starting out in the kind of work they like and the kind of work they are best fitted for, and keeping constantly at this work, they drift into most any job that comes along, and they are not fitted for this kind of work, and drift along leading an unhappy life in the work they are doing, or else drift from one job to another.

WHAT LUCK IS
Luck, or what most people call luck, was characterized by the speaker as merely good planning and good managing. There are the people who think they can not do a task, or think they are inferior to others and are incapable of doing bigger things in life. These people never will get ahead in life as long as they hold to this pitiful frame of mind. Often one meets people who are fighting against circumstances and who are characterized as the victims of circumstances. These people may pray for success, and get nothing comes of it. The thing that is wrong is that the thought life of these people does not correspond to their prayers. Prayer can only be answered when it harmonizes with thought and action. These people are willing to improve their circumstances, but are unwilling to improve themselves.

Mr. Rohan cited several striking illustrations which prove that America is truly the land of opportunity for those people who are ambitious to get ahead. Among these were Abraham Lincoln and U. S. Grant, both very poor boys with only meager schooling who by their hard labor became presidents of the United States. F. W. Woolworth and Charley Chaplin also started out with all circumstances apparently against them, but by dint of toil, struggle, and sacrifice became wealthy and highly successful in their professions. These men did not inherit their success but turned adverse conditions into opportunities and liabilities into assets. Everybody could be a success, said Mr. Rohan, if they did not go through this life refusing to use the talents God gave them.

ORDER NEW ROOF ON SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING

Grounds and Building Committee Votes Extensive Repairs

Purchase of a quantity of roofing material to repair the roof of the senior high school, authorization of the purchase and installation of a new lighting circuit in the high school building, and completion of a plan to remedy defects in the high school heating system was the business transacted at a meeting of the building and grounds committee of the high school board in the senior high school building at 8:30 Tuesday morning. The committee is composed of William Kreiss, chairman, L. Hugo Keller, Alex. Fahlstrom and A. S. Galpin.

The roof of the high school building has had several bad leaks for some time. Minor repairs have been made from year to year, but the committee decided that the only way to fix the roof effectively was to put new roofing material over the whole building. Bates and Lohman of Appleton were awarded the contract for re-roofing the building.

NEW LIGHT CIRCUIT
One of the best lighting systems in any school in the state will be in working order at the high school next fall as a new lighting circuit will be installed in addition to the two now in the building. One of the light circuits has been overloaded for a number of years, and this condition will be relieved.

C. L. Chase of the C. E. Dunham heating engineer firm of Milwaukee, who talked on the high school heating system at the meeting of the board of education last Wednesday, will be instructed to draw blue prints of the school heating system showing its present defects and his proposed remedies. These blueprints will be submitted to heating firms for bids for repairing the system.

Volleyball courts will be laid out next fall on the west side of the high school building, on the site of the former barracks. Work of leveling off the ground for these courts

PAVING HELD UP BY INJUNCTION PLEA

Work on state trunk highway 47 through the village of Black Creek, which was to be paved this summer has been held up temporarily pending a hearing on an application for an injunction against the Garvey-Weyberg Construction Co. The answer of the defendants is expected to be filed this week.

The section of the highway has been graded but concrete pouring has not been started. Motorists are forced to take a long detour west of the main road, which is exceedingly rough and narrow, or travel over the main street of the village which also is rough.

will start soon. At first it was planned to have tennis courts on this site, but after further consideration volleyball courts were chosen because they afford an opportunity for a larger number of students to use them at one time.

Principal H. H. Hieble of the high school was authorized to make minor repairs he believes necessary. Painting and plastering of some of the rooms is now in progress. It was suggested that the danger at certain blind corners on the school grounds be eliminated by trimming away some of the thick shrubbery which obstructs the vision of motorists driving past the school.

BAR DISAGREES ON CANDIDATE

Can't Reach Agreement on Nominee for Appointment as Municipal Judge

Appleton attorneys, after two long sessions have been unable to agree on a candidate for appointment as judge of municipal court to succeed the late Judge A. M. Spencer. It was learned late Monday night after a meeting of the bar in the courthouse. The first meeting was held at noon on Monday and after three or four ballots were taken it was decided to adjourn until evening.

No official announcement of the balloting was made, but it was understood that Attorney C. G. Cannon and Attorney F. J. Rooney are the leading contenders for the bar's endorsement. It was unofficially reported that on the last several ballots Mr. Cannon received 16 votes and Mr. Rooney 7.

Another meeting was started Tuesday noon in an effort to reach an agreement on a candidate. If the bar can reach an agreement it is probable a committee will be sent to Madison to present the candidate's name to the governor.

Cuts Gasoline Cost to 10 Cents a Gallon

James A. May of 4647-K St., Sioux Falls, S. D., has perfected an amazing new device that is enabling car owners to cut their gasoline bills in half by doubling their mileage from gasoline used. Many owners have made over 40 miles on a gallon. It also removes carbon, increases motor power and pep, prevents spark plug trouble and overheating. Anyone can install it in five minutes. Mr. May wants agents, and is offering to send one free to one auto owner in each locality. Write him today.

Makes Pumping Up Tires Unnecessary

Chicago, Ill.—R. M. Hughes of 2512 Monroe, this city, has perfected a new air-tight valve cap that enables auto owners to pump up their tires once and never touch them again until punctured or worn out. Leading tire manufacturers, after thorough tests, have approved Mr. Hughes' invention and banished the old theory that air escapes thru rubber. One inflation lasts the life of a tire, and tire mileage is doubled. These caps retail for $1.25 for set of five. The inventor wants agents and will send proof and samples free. Write him today.

ALL PAVING HERE WILL BE PUT TO RIGID TESTING

Chicago Experts Hired by City Inspect Places Where Material Comes from

Sand, cement, stone, gravel, asphalt and everything else that goes into the pavements here this year will be chosen only after rigid tests, according to a policy of paving inspection used by the city of Appleton for the first time this year in its work. Testing already is in progress under the direction of H. J. Luth, a representative of Walter H. Flood & Co., Chicago. This concern was engaged by the city to inspect the paving.

Mr. Luth has spent several days visiting sandpits and stone quarries at Binghamton, Waupaca, Elkhart Lake and other points. Samples of the material were taken at each place and sent to the Flood laboratories in Chicago. Some sand is sharper than other kinds, some has too much clay, and stone often is not of sufficient hardness for the purpose required. Defects like these are found in the analysis.

A trip also was made to Manitowish where the plant is located which will supply the cement for various jobs. Mr. Luth declares that his company keeps a man there all the time inspecting the cement as shipped. Each bag is tagged to indicate his approval and the car is sealed before it leaves for Appleton. A Flood inspector here unseals the car. In this way they are sure there has been no substitution.

Walter H. Flood & Co. maintains a large staff of trained men working in all parts of the country where paving contracts are in progress. The men who inspect materials are graduate chemical engineers and those who watch the actual paving work are civil engineers. The laboratory in Chicago has seven or eight men working constantly on samples that are submitted for test. Reports on all Appleton material tested there are sent to the inspector on the job and to R. M. Connelly, city engineer. This company's men are not detectives waiting to catch a contractor in crooked operations. They insist, of course, that everything be done in accordance with specifications but they try to show the contractor where he might be operating incorrectly. They often prevent mistakes of construction that might result in cracks, depressions or other paving defects which might crop out later.

SCHOOL CENSUS WILL SHOW GAIN THIS YEAR

Appleton's annual school census will be completed this week. J. G. Pfeil, who is taking the count, announces. He has finished his work in all wards but the Sixth and hopes to make his rounds there by Saturday. There will be a fair gain in children of school age over last year, he finds. The Fourth ward will add about 20 and the Third and Fifth also reveal increases. The First and Second wards are about holding their own.

There is Nothing Else In the World Like This!

World travelers agree that Nature has given us in Yellowstone National Park a variety of magnificent scenery surpassing that offered by any foreign country. Of all our national parks it is the wildest and most universal in its appeal. It has more geysers than all the rest of the world together. It has mud volcanoes, petrified forests, a canyon unequaled for natural coloring, blue lakes and rivers filled with trout, and the greatest wild bird and animal preserve in existence.

It is an ideal retreat. The Government has set it aside as a recreation spot for the people. Our Washington Information Bureau will send you a free booklet, beautifully illustrated showing you just how you can go pleasuring in this park. If you can't go this summer, you will enjoy reading about it anyway. Fill out coupon below and send two cents in stamps for return postage.

CIRCUS MONKEYS ACT RHYME

JACK AND JILL, TWO OF 1,000 MENAGERIE RARITIES WITH RINGLING BROS. AND BARNUM & BAILEY

There are many trained animals with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus that is to exhibit here Wednesday, July 29.

On the mammoth hippodrome track one hundred and fifty horses appear in a magnificent "Equine Ballet." Other troupes appear in the rings. But before leaving the menagerie the visitor should not fail to see those "natural" actors Jack and Jill.

For Jack and Jill are with the circus this year. Not, of course, the very pair that is told of in the nursery rhyme and who according to Mother Goose, "came down the hill," but those whom Mr. Darwin might have claimed were connected with their ancestors.

Jack and Jill are two full-grown chimpanzees who have consented to accept a limited touring engagement with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus. Their contract calls for a specially constructed exhibition wagon fitted with plenty of swings, ropes and slides and gorgeously bedecked with red and gold paint. The wagon stands in the center of the great double-menagerie tent. This tent shelters more than a thousand animals, including 42 elephants and a family of giraffes. But no visitor can afford to neglect to pay his respects to Jack and Jill. The chimpanzees have earned their

CHICAGO YOUTHS DROVE STOLEN CAR, COPS FIND

Trio Is Taken Back to City
When Names of Actual Thieves Are Revealed

Three Chicago youths held here for the last few days after an automobile accident were proven by the police, to be the possessors of a stolen car but they were not the ones who had taken it.

It was found that the machine had been stolen from R. G. Watts, Chicago, by two youths who loaned it to the trio detained here, in order that they might take a trip. The facts of the case were brought out with the arrival here Sunday by Mrs. R. G. Watts, who identified the machine. Officer Rabbut of the Chicago police force, and a Mr. Wood of Sheboygan, who is connected with the United States department of justice.

Suspensions of the police were aroused on Thursday when Carl Radtke, motorcycle policeman, took the three youths into custody. They gave their names as William Jatzak, Herbert Hoff and Henry Miller and said they lived in Chicago. Their machine sideswiped an automobile owned by Joseph Dohr while they were driving in the city. Their answers concerning the car did not satisfy Officer Radtke and he took the youths to the police station.

Messages were sent to the Chicago police department and a checkup of the license numbers revealed that the automobile belonged to Mr. Watts and had been stolen. The youths were questioned for several hours Sunday by Capt. Patrick Vaughn, acting chief of police, and Officer Rabbut and Mr. Wood. They said the car had been loaned them by two youths whose names and addresses they gave. Mr. Wood took a hand in the case because a United States law has been violated in taking a stolen car from one state to another. The youths were under 18 and he therefore preferred not to take them into federal custody and asked the Chicago policeman to act.

Officer Rabbut took the stolen car and the three youths with him to Chicago, where the other two in the case will be placed under arrest. Mrs. Watts returned to Chicago with relatives who brought her here in another machine and will take possession of her own car after the police release it.

The youths had been held here in jail on a charge of reckless driving until the case could be investigated.

The near future should do so within the next week or ten days, as class schedules are now being made out at the high school office. If everyone is registered before the opening of school there will be no confusion in assigning the students to their

Story About Appleton Makes A Large Volume

More than 200 pages of typewritten matter were contained in the better cities contest report which the chamber of commerce has mailed to the office of the Wisconsin Conference of Social Work in Madison. Postage on the report was $2.36, as the data had to be sent by first class mail at 2 cents an ounce.

The ten books with blue covers lettered and illustrated in colors were bound up into one volume about four inches thick. The final outer cover was of blue suede leather, lettered in gold with the word "Appleton."

Each of the ten books contained a survey made by a contest committee. There were 207 pages of typewritten matter in all, 14 maps in color showing location of industries, parks, churches, railways, bus lines, arterial highways, and so forth. There were eight graphs of information about reports. One-hundred photographs were selected out of about a thousand to illustrate the reports.

The chamber of commerce, which sponsored the contest under the direction of Mayor John Goodland, Jr. devoted its entire staff and facilities to the final preparation of reports in order that Appleton might make a good showing and possibly win the $1,000 prize. Most of the committees worked faithfully and handed in complete reports so that only the editing and recopying was necessary. Others "fell down" and the chamber obtained the information itself at considerable effort. A few of the ministers presented the hardest problem by refusing to give figures on church membership and attendance, while others were willing to cooperate. The facts had to be obtained, however, and the information usually was gleaned from members of the congregation.

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, put forth considerable personal effort so no contest report would be sent to Madison incomplete or haphazard. He devoted about three weeks, including Sundays, to the work, laboring for about 12 hours a day so the reports could be in the mail by July 9. The package, perhaps the biggest letter ever sent out from Appleton, was mailed at 8:30 the evening previous to July 9.

"We found the public very willing to cooperate with us in obtaining the required information," said Mr. Corbett. "Were it not for the liberal help given us we never could have compiled these reports as effectively as we did. The chamber of commerce wants to publicly thank the committees and all officials and persons who gave their help. Even though our work may not win the prize, we are proud of what this city could produce in competition with others in that direction."

Mayor Goodland was highly elated when he inspected the reports before they were mailed. It would be well for any person in Appleton to examine them, he said, for they really would be amazed at what a splendid city this really is.

THOUGHT PETTIBONE'S STORE WAS ON FIRE

Repose at fire station No. 1 was broken in the wee small hours Sunday night all for nothing. A tourist driving through Appleton at 3:15 Monday morning saw smoke in the vicinity of the Pettibone-Peabody Co. store and thought the building was afire. He drove to the police station to report his suspicions and the fire department was called out. No fire could be found in or near the building, however.

"You ride on a cushion of air."
"Ruts and bumps are smoothed out."
"The car and its occupants are protected from jolts and jars."
"Shocks are absorbed before they reach axles and springs."
"On uneven roads where ordinary tires bounce, these flexible low-air pressure tires roll over the bumps, permitting better average speed."
"Save repairs."

Low-Air Pressure is the Answer

HERE is a list of balloon tire advantages taken from the first balloon tire announcements.

These were the things that car owners wanted.

The things that made them demand balloon tires.

Read them and then ask yourself how you can get them except in a tire that can be run at low enough air pressure to provide a soft air cushion between the car and the road.

Some car owners have been sold the balloon principle and then handed the name only.

Just a big, round, fat tire with the name "Balloon" on it will not necessarily give low-air pressure riding comfort.

The original ideal of the industry was a flexible side wall, low-pressure tire.

Yet today some "balloon" tires must be run at too high pressure for ideal cushioning, as they wear out too fast when they are run soft.

It is important to you as a car owner to remember this fact.

The United States Royal Balloon is spoken of as the "Balloon Tire Principle at its Best," because it can be run at low-air pressure without injury.

It is built of Latex-treated Web Cord which provides the necessary strength and flexibility.

It has the U. S. Low-Pressure Tread which wears slowly and evenly and eliminates early, uneven and unsightly wear.

Specify U. S. Royal Balloon Cords and be sure of true low-pressure cushioning.

DUZ

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

"Duz washes all my stained and grimy things"

"I was skeptical at first. I soaked my unusually soiled and spotted household wash overnight in Duz suds. In the morning I soused the wash about and squeezed out the most discouraging spots between my hands. Then I rinsed in clear water. And to my delight—every piece was spotless, sweet and fresh as new!

"Even the yellowed pieces came out the whitest white you ever saw—without any blueing—just as if they had been bleached by hanging in the sun. And Duz sterilized them without boiling."

Here's the Duz secret

Foamy suds—filled to the bursting point with tiny bubbles of harmless, purifying oxygen. Duz makes foamy oxygen suds whether your water is soft or hard. The oxygen bubbles whirl and swirl over every single thread and actually wash away every trace of grime, yellowness and stain—all stains except rust.

Just a little Duz makes your washing so easy and satisfactory. The oxygen suds—not back-breaking scrubbing—do the washing without harm to your daintiest silk or woolen things. Duz will not harm any water-fast color.

Duz even softens and whitens your hands.

COOLIDGE OR ANTI-COOLIDGE

Despite all efforts to determine whether there is to be a special election to fill the vacancy made by the death of Senator La Follette, and if so the time of the same, Governor Blaine has kept his intentions from the public and the state is proceeding in the dark. This is hardly in keeping with the policies of a governor who says he does not believe in concealing anything from the people but there is that much of a rift between theory and practice.

Those who pretend to be on the inside claim that the deceased senator's son is to be the candidate and that around him will gather all the fast crumbling pillars of the old cause. A faction does not seem to be very strong that can only be kept alive by the magic of a name. No one has yet advanced any other reason why the son of Senator La Follette should be a candidate. He is immature, inexperienced and seems to be wholly without the ability which so characterized his father.

If, however, the many elements that go to make up the faction in the Republican party now nominally headed by Governor Blaine can agree upon one candidate to represent them and submit their policies to the people, there will be some indication that their purposes in seeking office are not entirely personal.

A number of candidates have been mentioned in the press who believe that the state of Wisconsin should send a senator to Washington to help President Coolidge in solving the many and complex problems of the nation. It is imperative that those who favor the Coolidge system of government support one candidate at the primary. There is hardly any other manner of giving the people a fair opportunity to choose the policies they favor. That, we understand, is the purpose of holding a convention of the Republican leaders from various parts of the state. The man who is selected by that convention, if from among those whose candidacy has already been announced or who have been mentioned for the position, will be of sufficient ability and character to properly represent the state in a matter of this kind the individual is of secondary importance. The Coolidge idea of unselfish service in public office has grown to such an extent throughout the nation that it has even been felt in Wisconsin.

No candidate for the senatorship who intends to ask the support of the anti-radical element in this state can do so in good faith if he merely pushes his candidacy despite the opinions of party leaders.

If after our recent experience of vast industries leaving the state with no successors to replace them, constantly soaring taxes with nothing but thousands of well paid politicians to show for the expense, the people want some more of the "Wisconsin Idea". they should be permitted to have their way, destructive though it may be.

BACK TO 1798?

Latest to pay attention to the silly attack on Americans who in speeches abroad have taken a stand against the Coolidge policy of debt collection is former Attorney General Wickersham. Mr. Wickersham protests that although he did make a speech and praise French cookery he would never, never discuss as a private citizen what the diplomats of his country were discussing with the diplomats of others.

But why not? What's so sacred about diplomats? If an American believes the Coolidge policy of debt collection is wrong why in the world should he not say so if he pleases, to a French crowd, an American crowd or any other? Could there be any more foolish intimidation than that suggested by Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York in urging that Otto Kahn should be prosecuted in the courts for making a speech in which he declared politicians taking a view unfriendly to France were in his opinion not representative of American popular opinion?

If free speech is anything at all it includes the right to criticize. In peace times at least, the acts of the current administration—and criticize them anywhere on the face of the earth. It is a century and a quarter since the Federalists adopted their famous sedition act of 1798 providing fine or imprisonment for anybody uttering any malicious statement against federal officials—an act which died in 1801, finding hardly anybody with nerve enough to enforce it, and chiefly served to hasten the downfall of the party that gave it birth.

Any Frenchman who takes the word of Otto Kahn over that of President Coolidge is entitled to his choice. And Citizen Otto Kahn is entitled to go on thinking his way, and saying so, to the end of his days. This country has hardly reverted to the suppressions of 1798.

COST OF A BLOCKADE

Interesting information on the "good" done the country by the most important senate filibuster of recent years comes from Admiral Leigh C. Palmer, president of the Emergency Fleet corporation.

At the end of the sixty-seventh congress the ship subsidy bill, passed by the house and backed by President Harding, was talked to death. It was talked to the exhaustion of the senate's suffering majority and to the utter boredom of the country. The minority prevailed completely not only in preventing a vote but in closing the question as an actual national issue.

Admiral Palmer now announces that government experience has shown, even with the greatest economies, that despite a pay roll reduction of $2,000,000 in eighteen months the loss on every voyage of our 320 cargo vessels is $17,000. He hopes eventually that it will be possible to bring it down to $8,500. Private ship owners, he declared, could operate the ships at this moment at a loss of $4,500. Counting replacement, passenger line losses and all, the government must spend $40,000,000 annually to keep up the merchant marine. If a $4,500-a-trip subsidy could be passed today, the admiral pointed out, the same lines in private hands could be kept running at much smaller cost to the taxpayer and the same benefit to the nation.

But the filibuster killed the chance of that.

SOUND MIND IS ALERT MIND

"I never know how I feel until I see the newspapers," said Colonel John Coolidge, the president's father. That is pretty near the case with every person of wholesome mind as well as body.

Colonel Coolidge, to be sure, at eighty years, must anticipate some ails, and final weakness and death. But for all of us, young or old, introspection is an unwholesome habit, physically as well as mentally. The soundest mind is the one that is constantly and actively interested, impersonally, in something outside itself.

Self-centeredness is one of the tests of mental inferiority or abnormality. If you find things important only in proportion to their relation to yourself, suspect yourself. Such "sensitiveness" is a mark, not of "fineness," but of weakness of character. And physically, it aggravates whatever ills we have.

Find something outside of yourself. Be interested, not in what it can do for you, but in what you can do for it. So shall you live longer, happier, wiser and sounder.

One thing you have which very few of your friends can get is a phone number.

You can't trust some people out of your sight, you can't trust others until they are out of your sight.

Who remembers when the age of discretion was the parentage?

The burning question of the day now is the sun.

The world's a stage. Dodge the exits as long as you can.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author.
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

NOT SO SPICY

Dr. Stefanescu of the University of Jassy (not Jazy) has proved by actual experiments that the abuse of spices may bring about cirrhosis of the liver, a disease usually due to moderate indulgence in alcoholic beverages. The doctor's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

The spices which Stefanescu found responsible for the hardening of the liver were chiefly ordinary pepper and paprika, very extensively cultivated and consumed in Hungary. These he administered to dogs and cats for considerable periods, in some instances over a year. Even comparatively large amounts of these spices did not prevent dogs from gaining steadily in weight, but when dogs so fed were killed and their tissues studied, well marked degenerative changes in the liver were found, similar to the changes seen in phosphorus poisoning.

Cats which were given much pepper or paprika or both in their food generally became emaciated. Some folks are dogged in this matter of indulgence in condiments or spices; some are just catfish.

These conclusive animal experiments were carried out with doses of the pepper and paprika not comparatively greater than people are in the habit of eating, at least in certain parts of Europe. I dare say we might find zones of high spice consumption immediately adjacent to the hot dog stands in this country—not counting the spice contributed by the dog and the manufacturer.

Far be it from me to take the joy out of anybody's life, yet it is my stern duty as a health guard to snatch a baby from the path of an approaching speed demon even though the baby is having the happiest time.

Mustard is a fairly good emetic, slow but handy, and in my judgement about the best counter irritant or external application for acute inflammations in the chest, throat, or a bad cold. Especially for children must this cruel and inhuman treatment of the stomach be condemned. Not alone for the sake of normal digestion, but for the sake of the liver and the kidneys too. This begins to sound like a patent medicine circular. Yet the truth must be told for the sake of better health. All of these spices or condiments—pepper, paprika, mustard, horseradish, cloves, cinnamon, nutmeg, ginger, peppermint—must be considered drugs rather than foods and the less of them children are given, the better for their health. Many of the spices are irritants to the urinary tract and probably indulgence in such condiments is responsible for many disturbances of the genito urinary system in early life.

Wholesome food—which the child or adult in ordinary health should have requires no such drug addition. It is the atrocious cooking and the crude or repulsive serving of food which creates the abnormal craving for spices and condiments. Of course the indulgence of such a morbid appetite soon creates a habit in the child.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Not So Fast

Suppose one were to fast absolutely for 14 days, taking nothing but water during this time. Would it be injurious? Would it be beneficial? At the expiration of what time should one start eating? (Mrs. B. A. J.)

Answer.—I should not advise fasting. I am unable to give a categorical answer to such indefinite questions. Why fast?

Reach As You Please.
Is it superstition about the effect of reaching up? I am an expectant mother. My physician says it has never been proved. (Mrs. H. P. J.)

Answer.—Of course it is superstition. Sairey Gamp and Mrs. Ben Told "jest know" such things—they need no proof.

CURRENCY PLAN
MOSTLY CHANCE

Emergency Measures Hastily Passed Often Become Permanent Usage of Country

Neil Carothers, in Current History.
The present monetary systems of even the most progressive countries are the offspring of emergency measures hastily passed to meet temporary currency crises.

The adoption of the single gold standard by England may fairly be considered the most important event in monetary history. The law which brought it about was the work of Lord Liverpool, one of the great financiers of his day. But he did not understand the true character of the measure himself, its final results were quite accidental, and parliament did not realize that the gold standard had been established until some years later.

Even now Great Britain and most of her colonies have a non-decimal currency so clumsy in trade and inconvenient in calculations that its continued use today is an almost inexplicable anachronism.

The currency system of the United States is also a chance result, due to a century of financial accidents and legislative experiments. It is derived from the Spanish peso, or piece-of-eight, which came into the country in colonial days from the mints set up in Mexico and Peru by the treasure hunting freebooters from Spain.

Even the name "dollar" has an accidental derivation from Bohemia, where silver was discovered in the Joachimsthal, or Joachim's valley in the fifteenth century.

The Germans called the coins from these mines "thalers," and the English applied the term, quite incorrectly the word "thaler" to dollar.

The weights of our original gold and silver dollar units, determined by Alexander Hamilton, were based upon a mere surmise as to the weight of the worn and clipped Spanish dollars in circulation at the time. Although it has long since ceased to be the standard, the silver dollar still circulates with the same awkward weight of 31 1/4 grains of silver that Hamilton selected in 1791.

There is no need for the coin today, and its continued circulation in the south and west is a curious illustration of the tenacity of habit in monetary matters. After the Civil war the negroes, who could not read, perforce the coin to printed paper notes, and the people of the south became accustomed to the circulation of the piece and still retain it, just as they retain the term "two bits" to refer to the quarter dollar, the usage going back more than 200 years to the time when the Spanish dollar was divided into eight reals or "bits."

NEWSPAPERS OF
50 YEARS AGO
SMALL, MODEST

Absence of Advertising Was Noticeable—Crime News Was Featured Then

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—No more illuminating method of realizing the progress of the American people in the last half century can be found than that of making an examination of the newspapers files of 50 years ago. Hundreds of thousands of persons now are living who were old enough to read the papers of 1875, yet few of them realize the mighty changes which have occurred within their lifetime without refreshing their recollection by looking up the old papers.

As a newspaper is a reflection of the life of the people it talks about, the measure of advance in forms of journalism may be taken as a measure of the advance of the people and of their institutions.

For instance a good standard newspaper printed in a large city usually consisted of nothing more than four pages; that is, a single sheet of paper, folded so as to make a front and back page and two inside pages. The type was small and difficult to read and there was no attempt at pleasing arrangement of the various articles and advertisements.

NO BIG ADVERTISING

There was a complete absence of what is now known as display advertising. There were no large sections marked off and illustrated with pleasing pictures. All advertisements looked just about the same, some slightly longer than others but none taking up more than a few inches of single column width. A full page advertisement or even a quarter page one seems to have been a thing unknown.

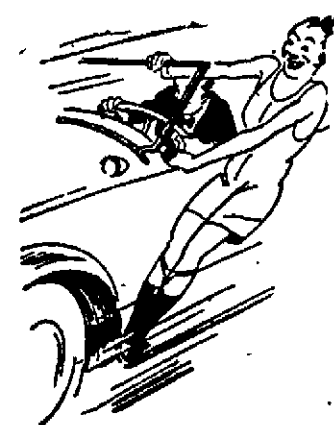

When this is compared with the 32 page newspapers of daily production and the 200-page Sunday newspapers, which the public now has, some idea of the growth in newspaper methods can be realized. This growth partakes of several elements. First, there has been a tremendous advance in methods of news gathering and reporting. Foreign dispatches were relatively rare, and domestic news travelled slowly. To-day a vast network of wires brings news to every paper from all over the world. The interest of the public in the news has increased to such an extent that the demand seemed to run more to editorial comment.

Probably the chief reason for the growth of newspapers, and improvement of their methods, has been the gain in wealth of the American people. This has meant increased ability to buy, and the merchant has kept pace with this increase by using more and better utilized newspaper space to advertise his wares. Full page advertisements appear where a one-inch, single column announcement appeared fifty years ago because the purchasing power of the American people has increased in that ratio.

NO LONG ARTICLES

The type of news printed and its method of handling show as great a change as the advertisement. There were few lengthy articles. Announcements concerning the actions of the president of the United States would be covered in one or two brief paragraphs, often with no headline. The same story today would cover a column or more and probably be illustrated with photographs. No pictures appeared in the papers of 50 years ago save in a few weeklies and these were chiefly pen sketches, wood cuts or steel engravings.

An unusual amount of crime news was reported. In fact crime and poli-

Q. Are the clothes moths we see about the house at times the insects that destroy fabrics and furs? E. S. C.

A. These moth millers have imperfectly developed mouth parts and could not feed upon fabrics if they desired. Their purpose in life is merely to lay eggs that develop into the worms or larvae which alone can cause destruction.

Q. When was mail first carried by rail? C. B.

A. Mail was first carried by a Steam railway in 1834, but it was not until 1838 that a law was passed declaring all railroads to be post routes. The traveling railway post office did not come until 1840.

Q. Who first used the word "vitamine"? R. J. N.

A. The word "vitamine" was first used by Dr. Casimir Funk when he fancied he had prepared a pure or nearly pure form from rice polishings by extracting them with alcohol and purifying the extract, which was applied even in very small doses was capable of curing polyneuritis in pigeons in a startling manner. The derivation of the word is obvious, from vita, life, and amine, an ammonia derivative, because it appeared to be a substance necessary for the maintenance of life and health and was thought to contain nitrogen in amine form.

Q. What is the history of Dry Tortugas? H. B. S.

A. Dry Tortugas was noted for the establishment of Fort Jefferson on one of the islands as a penal station during the Civil war. In 1904 the Carnegie Institute of Washington established on Loggerhead Key, a marine biological laboratory, and in 1908 the Government set aside the entire group as a Federal bird reservation.

Q. What is the strongest structural material known, per pound? D. H.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that duralumin is.

Q. A cousin of mine was in the Navy. He still has his blue serge uniform. Is it against the law for him to wear it? D. T.

A. The Navy Department says that it is against the law to wear a sailor suit after having left the service. A sailor suit can be changed into a civilian suit by removing all Navy insignia.

Q. What is the difference between a hazel nut and a filbert? W. D. B.

A. The husk of the hazel nut comes a little higher than the nut, hence it was called Haesel meaning "hooded." Haesel nut has come to be called hazel nut. The husk of the filbert is considerably longer and closes beyond the end of the nut, hence called full bearded. Full bearded has come to be called filbert.

Q. What effect does liquid manure have on flower plants? M. B. G.

A. Liquid manure promotes the growth of foliage on the plants. If too much is applied they become tender.

25 Women In Weekly Golf Play

About 25 women golfers attended the weekly luncheon Monday noon at Riverview Country club. Sixteen entered the team play for lunches. Mrs. James Bergstrom was captain of one team of golfers and Mrs. Paul Scallan was captain of the other. Women on the first team were Miss Helen Bradford, Miss Louise Ulrich, Miss Virginia Beals, Mrs. George Gilbert, Mrs. M. T. Ray, Mrs. Peters, Miss Eleanor Wing. Those on the second were Miss Josephine Bradford, Mrs. Waldemar Bergstrom, Mrs. Leslie Sensenbrenner, Mrs. John Pinkerton, Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. Kenneth Dickinson, and Mrs. Harry Rice. Mrs. Bergstrom's team won the tournament in match play. Events of the day were in charge of Miss Louise Ulrich, Neenah.

Mrs. Bergstrom, chairman of the Lady Golfers' luncheons for the summer, announced that the invitation tournament in Oshkosh was open to Riverview women. The tournament is being held on Tuesday, and about ten women are attending.

Another invitation tournament will be held at Manitowoc on Tuesday, July 21. Appleton women golfers are invited to take part in the play.

Adventures Of The Twins

THE GOBLIN TEACHES A LESSON "Achoo! Achoo! Achoo!" went the lady who was having her picture taken.

"That's not the way," said the photographer man. "You mustn't sneeze. You must sit very still while I count five. Now look at the little bird—so! And hold your head just so! Smile, please. No, that's too much! No, that isn't enough! Just look as though you heard a circus parade coming down the street. That's the way fine—simply fine!"

He got behind his camera and stuck his head under a big black cloth and took a good look.

"Couldn't be better," he said holding up his hand. "Now sit perfectly still until I say five. One—two—three—"

"A-a-choo!" went the lady again. Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz peeping through the velvet curtain, knew why the lady had suddenly appeared to catch such a cold. They saw the bad goblin with the stolen snuff box, perched on top of a screen behind her back, and blowing snuff as hard as he could every time the photograph man started to count.

"My, my!" said the photographer man crossly. "I think you should have gone to the doctor's for some medicine instead of coming here. I never heard such sneezing in all my life."

"I'm sorry," said the lady. "But I feel all right now. I'm sure I shan't sneeze again."

"Very well," said the photographer man a little more patiently. "Please sit the way I showed you and look at the bird and smile."

And once more he got behind his camera and stuck his head under the black cloth to see if everything was all right.

"Shall we catch Snitcher Snatch now?" whispered Nancy anxiously.

"No—wait!" said Mister Whizz. "I feel sure that something interesting is going to happen."

Just as that very minute the little goblin jumped from his perch on top of the screen to the top of a window—and from there into a tall vase right beside the place where the photograph man was standing. So it looked as though Mister Whizz was right—as though something interesting was going to happen.

"Now then," said the man. "One—two—three—a-choo!"

And he sneezed so hard that the big black cloth flew off and his camera nearly fell over.

"The idea!" he cried, blowing his nose furiously. "Whatever must he do that to you suppose? I must have caught cold from you, Madam. It does seem as though we were never going to get your picture at all. There! I feel much better. Now just sit still and we'll try once more."

So he got everything fixed up all over again and told the lady to smile and look at the little bird.

But the minute the photograph man began to count, Snitcher Snatch stuck out his head and blew some more snuff at him.

"Achooooo!" went the photograph man again—this time so violently that the camera went in a heap on the floor.

"I know what is wrong," cried the lady springing to her feet. "It's your old dusty room. It needs a good cleaning. Then perhaps you can take pictures, Doctor indeed!"

And she said.

"Tee, hee, hee!" they heard the goblin chuckling down in his vase! (To Be Continued.)

LETTER FROM PAULA PERIER TO SYDNEY CARTON, CONTINUED

Syd, I could never have done what Leslie did, but, thank God, she showed me that to have done it was perfectly natural after all. She showed me that she loved John Alden Prescott and respected herself. She made me understand that I only loved love and neither respected myself nor my womanhood.

Oh, I've learned many things, Syd, since I've become a working woman, beside the English idiom and the ability to express myself in it.

I expect I am telling you all this, because you wrote me that wonderful letter and told me what Leslie was teaching her two boys.

When I got that letter, Syd, I at last gave up all the moral rights I had in my boy as I had given up all the legal rights nearly three years ago.

John Alden Prescott Jr., belongs to Leslie body and soul and she will teach him to be the man his mother could not conceive, because she had never met a man that Leslie evidently has known.

In spite of his father, that boy will be honest and sincere—something that Jack and I never were to each other.

I am enclosing the telegram that Jack sent me and when you read the comment I have written upon it. "It is to laugh," you will know that I, at least, have enlarged not only my sense of humor but my sincerity.

Syd, you know a formal message like that from Jack to me is the acme of foolish hypocrisy. It only made me laugh, however, and I wondered if this was the usual way such things end.

I am glad I got your letter for the picture you drew in words of Leslie and her two boys makes me hope that after all my boy is not going to suffer for his parents' sinning.

Now I am going to tell you a rather surprising thing. I am really very happy out here. I am happy in my work and I hope that never again will I let anything come into my life to trouble the deep waters of my emotions or stir up the depths of ugly regrets.

Time, my dear Syd, is a good friend to everyone, no matter how much we hate to follow where it leads.

I think I am coming east to make a picture this spring. If I do I hope that I shall see you, friend of mine.

You know we will be at the New York studio and that is only a little way from Albany.

Although everybody tells me that I am looking very young, this morning I found my first gray hair.

Whether I see you or not I am happy in the thought that you are somewhere within healing distance and that you will still allow me to call myself.

Your friend, PAULA. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

Special tents are being planned this year and will be provided for the campers so that the girls may be comfortable when they come in from a long hard day of outdoor exercise.

Nothing is so necessary to the health and happiness of campers as a warm dry place to sleep, with the minimum of spiders and mosquitoes to disturb rest.

For this reason, special care has been paid by the directors of the camp to the kind of tent and its property of remaining dry in all kinds of weather.

If campers have any musical instrument, which they can easily carry, they are urged to bring them so that rainy evenings may be spent pleasantly.

Costs Only 3 Cents to Remove Your Wrinkles

Better than massage for removing wrinkles and age lines, far less expensive and bothersome, is a simple tar-kroot mixture which any woman can prepare and apply in a jiffy. Almost immediately after spreading this over the face there is a pleasant, soothing sensation and the mirror shows the horrid age lines and "sags" disappearing like magic. In less than fifteen minutes the face is as smooth and firm as a schoolgirl's. Seems almost too good to be true. But the actual experience quickly removes all doubt.

All one need do is to procure an original package of tar-kroot from the druggist, mix a spoonful with a spoonful of lemon juice and apply with the fingers. This, of course, is perfectly harmless. It is easily washed off, leaving the face wonderfully refreshed and rejuvenated, with a healthy glow. And the cost of such treatment is 3 cents!

FILL THAT COAL BIN NOW

INDUSTRIES BUY
FUEL SUPPLIES
EARLY IN SEASON

Business Men Save Money
by Securing Coal When Price Is Low

Have you ever noticed that public institutions and business enterprises are somewhat forehanded in buying their fuel early in the season. Notice the coal piles that are beginning to appear adjacent to Appleton's industries and you will appreciate that they at least, believe in the efficiency of early coal buying.

JUST WHY DO INDUSTRIES BUY
FUEL EARLY

In the first place because they save money by doing so. It comes direct from the mines and overhead costs of storage and handling are not added to the ultimate price per ton.

Then again they get better coal because it has not been depreciated by weather or broken and powdered in handling. Transportation is easy, equipment can be used to good advantage and winter snows and frosts do not interfere with handling.

The management of business may be guided by sentiment to a certain extent, but it is efficiency and a desire to show a profit that is its greatest controlling motive. Early Coal Buying is therefore simply a matter of Good Business.

The same reasons that appeal to the business man should appeal to the individual. They should cause him to make fuel purchasing and storing a part of his summer schedule.

HE SOLD STOLEN CAR AT BARGAIN

Thief Gets $10 for Machine
After Selling Tires at Weyauwega, Then Escapes

Special to Post-Crescent

Weyauwega — A rare bargain was made in cars here a few weeks ago, when it was learned that a garage owner at Evanswood, three miles from Weyauwega, bought a good roadster for $10. A man drove up to sell his roadster to the company for $15. Falling to make the sale, he sold two tires to Mr. Zietlow for $5 and Mr. Zietlow took him to Oshkosh. Later, hearing of the transaction, Marshal Otto Rach, investigated and sent to Madison to find to whom the license had been issued. He wrote to the owner, Walter Kasdorf, Merri-mac and received word from the sheriff of Sauk-co saying that the roadster had been stolen. Authorities are searching for the thief.

Charles Hanson of Oshkosh and Harold Wells of Fond du Lac, were arrested here Tuesday July 7, for forgery. They drove into town Monday, July 6, with a big car and knocked over one of the posts at the Valvoline filling station. They gave the man at the station a check for $15 in payment for the damage done. The check was written on Farmers and Merchants bank of this village and when the man went to cash it, found there was no account under such names and no funds. Marshal Otto Rach was notified and began to search for the men. At 7 o'clock Tuesday morning they were located near Waupaca-co asylum, on the farm of R. Morey, where the men had slept in the barn overnight, and were about to go fishing.

Appearing before Justice R. F. Taggart and District Attorney Olsen of Clintonville, at the former's office, they pleaded guilty, made good the check and paid the costs amounting in all to $41.35 and were released. The license plate was issued in California.

A man from Milwaukee was arrested for appearing on Tuesday and after appearing before Justice Taggart, paid his fine and costs, amounting in all to $12. Harry Klug was arrested for speeding Saturday night July 4, and paid his fine and costs, $14.

Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter and Mrs. Bertha Schumacher spent the holiday weekend at Oshkosh with relatives.

STAGE AND SCREEN

GIVES SPLENDID CHARACTER-IZATION AS COP IN "THE MAKING OF O'MALLEY"

One of the finest characterizations Milton Sills has yet given on the screen.

That is our opinion regarding

"The Making of O'Malley," which opened last night at the Elite theatre with Sills in the stellar role. Incidentally, it is the first time in his career that he has been officially "starred" in a moving picture, and he amply supports by his performance the wisdom of the First National executives in starring him.

Thrills, love interest, pathos, suspense, unusual dramatic situations, real comedy—all these are found in this picture. For genuine entertainment, which includes the proper amount of tears and laughter, "The Making of O'Malley" is all that could be desired.

It is a striking romance of a New York policeman and a society girl who has renounced the ballroom for civic welfare work. The girl's refining influence lifts this burly awkward "cop" to a newer and higher plane, as the action unfolds and the threads of a love plot are woven.

"HOODMAN BLIND" IS SPECTAC-ULAR FILM

Among the most spectacular motion pictures shown here in some years is the William Fox screen version of "Hoodman Blind," at the New Bijou theatre Wednesday and Thursday. Adapted from the old stage play by Wilson Barrett and Sir Henry Arthur Jones, the picture, of course goes much further than the original. An actual shipwreck scene is not the least one of a series of really remarkable views. Primitive fights and a strong love story add to the interest.

David Butler has the role of Jack Yeuette, originally played by Wilson Barrett, the co-author and Gladys Hu-lette has the dual part of his wife and her half-sister whose striking resemblance to one another was the cause of tragedy and misunderstanding. A good cast gives the principals fine support.

"A KISS IN THE DARK"

Lillian Rich recently seen here in "The Golden Bed," Aileen Pringle in "Three Weeks" fame and Kenneth MacKenna who played with Bebe Daniels in the hilariously funny comedy "Miss Bluebeard," Ann Pennington, whose dimpled knees have long held her in popular favor on Broadway and Kitty Kelly now playing leading part in "Mary Jane McKane" showing in London at the present time, play in support of Adolphe Menjou in one of the cleverest comedies of the present year "A Kiss in the Dark" adapted from the rollicking stage success "Aren't We All." This photoplay will appear at Fischer's Appleton theatre Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Also Our Gang in "Big Town," latest news reel and novelties.

"THE TEN COMMANDMENTS"
BROKE LONG RUN RECORDS

The picture which broke all long run records at road show prices is coming to the Appleton Theatre in September when Cecil B. DeMille's production of "The Ten Commandments" opens a 6 days engagement there at popular prices. Playing the "two-a-day" in New York City, it broke the record of 53 weeks which had been held by "The Covered Wagon" remaining at capacity business for 62 consecutive weeks. "The Birth of a Nation" was only able to last 44 weeks on Broadway, while "Way Down East," "The Four Horsemen," and "The Thief of Bagdad" held up for a lesser period. About five million people have seen this remarkable picture since it was first shown at a two dollar scale.

In Los Angeles it held up for 31 weeks, Chicago and Philadelphia 20, Boston 14, San Francisco and Cleveland 8; while in Detroit, Washington and Cincinnati it stayed 5 weeks. Sidney, Australia, played host to it for 30 weeks as did Melbourne; while Paris and Auckland, New Zealand greeted it enthusiastically for 10 weeks. Berlin, as impoverished as it was at the time, played the picture for 4 weeks, with the best seats selling at five dollars each.

WINNEBAGO-CO TO OPEN CHERRY-ST BRIDGE ROAD

BOARD PROVIDES MONEY FOR LAND ON LYNCH FARM

Sum Is Not Stated but Vote Means Relocation of Highway 15 Over Bridge

Appleton is one step nearer having a straight outlet from Cherry-st bridge to W. Foster-st through a vote of Winnebago-co board at its session Monday afternoon appropriating county funds for the purchase of a right-of-way through the John Lynch farm. The vote of the board was almost unanimous.

This action resulted when the Winnebago-co road and bridge committee presented a resolution urging relocation of a portion of highway 15 so it would pass over Cherry-st bridge. The resolution also embodied a partial relocation of highway 55 between Winchester and Butte des Morts.

No sum is stated in the resolution but it is understood the county highway commission will attempt to purchase the roadway through the Lynch farm at as low a figure as possible in the hope that condemnation proceedings will not be necessary. It is presumed also that a paved highway ultimately will be built to the Outagamie-co line to join any paving this county may construct.

PREPARE PLANS
Plans for the roadway connecting the bridge and Menasha had been drawn up, presented to the state highway commission and approved before the county board met. They amount required for the project is to be fixed before the 1932 highway budget is adopted so that any state aid to which Winnebago-co might be entitled will be obtained to help defray the cost. Property owners therefore will not be assessed a direct tax for this purpose.

Opposition to the purchase of a roadway in Winnebago-co was encountered when Cherry-st bridge first was opened and an indirect outlet over the newly created S. Adams-st. therefore had to be created. The road was considered instead of paved pending the final outcome of the matter. Winnebago-co officials who came here for the bridge dedication realized how important their cooperation was and assured their help. The road committee of Appleton Chamber of Commerce met with the Winnebago-co road committee recently and presented the proposed plans and the decision of Mr. Lynch as to his final offer. The committee agreed to present the matter at this board session. With this problem solved, Appleton city officials are arranging to obtain a small piece of land just south of the bridge so a jog now existing there will be removed and a gradual curve provided in the roadway.

HEAR DIETZLER PLEA FOR PAROLE

Slayer of Edwin R. Bedor Expected to Get Liberty After July 30

Action on the pardon of Henry Dietzler, Leeman farmer, who was sentenced to four years at Waupun following his plea of guilty on Jan. 11, 1924, to a charge of third degree manslaughter as the result of the fatal shooting of Edwin R. Bedor, a neighbor, will be taken at a meeting of the state board of control on July 30 at Waupun, according to a notice received by John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney.

Dietzler was recommended for a conditional pardon on Wednesday July 8 by Governor John J. Blaine. The condition is that he be released on parole. The board is expected to give Dietzler his freedom under the usual parole restrictions. He was a model prisoner during his term and his conduct at Waupun caused him to be recommended for parole several months before the usual time.

Over the plain states and westward to the coast a high pressure prevails with centers of 30.10 at Denver and 30.14 at Seattle. Light precipitation has occurred over the upper Mississippi valley and also over Tennessee eastward to the south of the coast. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher were recorded Monday at many points from Nebraska southward. Phoenix recorded a maximum of 112 in the shade.

Dr. Babcock also will attend the meeting of the state dental examining board, which will be held simultaneously. This is the first time for 10 years that the meeting has taken place outside of Milwaukee and differs from previous conventions in that there are few table clinics. The reason for this is that so many good lectures have been obtained that it was thought best to devote the time to this.

ZONING BOARD WON'T REVOKE BAKERY PERMIT

Property Owners May Carry Goettlicher Enlargement Fight into Courts

Charles Goettlicher's permit to enlarge his bakery at 1112 E. North-st will not be revoked, the zoning board of appeals decided at an adjourned session at the city hall Monday morning. This action was taken unanimously after the board was informed by A. C. Bossert, city attorney, that it had no right to annul the permit granted about ten days ago. One of the hardest struggles the board has had to handle since the zoning law was enacted thus ended, but there are indications it will be carried into the courts.

Property owners near the Goettlicher bakery registered a protest at a board meeting last Thursday against enlargement of the building. The board deferred its decision until Monday so an opinion could be obtained from Mr. Bossert as to its authority in a case of this kind. The city attorney prepared no written opinion but announced that the board had no right to annul an act where proper notice had been given a hearing held and the permit granted according to law. There were no objections at the first meeting, because the property owners allege they did not see the published notices.

ATTORNEYS PRESENT
Further arguments against the permit were registered at Monday's session. R. S. Powell, Dr. Robert S. Mitchell and Earl Lutz were present, with Attorney F. F. Wheeler representing Mr. Powell and Dr. Mitchell in the absence of Attorney J. P. Frank. Mr. Goettlicher was represented by Attorney Thomas H. Ryan.

The scope of the zoning law was put to quite a test in the arguments by attorneys on both sides, more so than at any other hearing. The meaning of the law to the city also was demonstrated in a pronounced manner. The question was raised as to whether the zoning board of appeals had the right to grant a permit under conditions of the kind involving the Goettlicher bakery. The establishment is in a residence district and cannot be enlarged, the law stipulates, but there are conditions under which the zoning board may grant the right to remodel.

OBJECT TO NUISANCE
Property owners declared they were not opposing the enlargement of Mr. Goettlicher's bakery business but they wanted to rid the neighborhood entirely of what they declare is in the legal class of a nuisance. Anything that tends to make it more permanent in that locality should be discouraged, they contended.

When there were intimations that the matter might be carried into the courts, Mr. Goettlicher and his attorney announced that they would be glad to see the matter taken before a jury for decision.

The board had to consider, it was shown, that unless the bakery were altered so the ovens could be changed in accordance with an order of the state board of health, the state baking license would be revoked and Mr. Goettlicher would be deprived of his business. Even though a permit was refused, it was shown that the baker could put new ovens in his garage and build a new garage on his property, so the ordinance could not defeat the nuisance anyway.

Mr. Goettlicher will now proceed with his building plans, it is said.

SLICE 13 PER CENT FROM POTATO CROP THIS SEASON

ACREAGE THIRD LESS IN STATE IN THREE YEARS

Low Returns Lead Farmers to Take This Step—Grains Are Encouraging

Encouraging prospects for grain crops and a drastic cut in the acreage of potatoes are carried in the July survey of the Wisconsin cooperative crop and livestock reporting service at Madison. The report states that heavy and frequent rains have changed the poor outlook of a month ago into a generally favorable prospect. Hay yields, although light, are better than expected.

Four years of low returns from the potato crop have brought another cut of 13 per cent in the Wisconsin potato acreage. Cuts of 17 and 11 per cent have occurred during the past two years so that the Wisconsin acreage is now down to 64 per cent of the 1922 acreage. The reduction is greatest in the northern counties and less in the district about Milwaukee where local markets have kept prices at a higher level than for potatoes shipped out of the state.

PRICE MAY SOAR
Some encouragement for this year's price prospect is found in the fact that the United States acreage is cut 5 per cent, and with average yields the crop may be short enough to reverse the low prices of the past three years. Stands are somewhat better in a few central Wisconsin counties where hot, wet weather caused seed to rot in some fields just after planting, but in most of the states the crop is in good thrifty condition. This is especially true of the district about Milwaukee and of the Barron-Chippewa district. A condition of 88 per cent for the Wisconsin crop is slightly above the average, while the United States crop is 4 points below the 10-year average.

The yields of hay, although poor, are better than was expected earlier. Timothy made a good growth after the rains, but clover having headed failed to make much growth. Old meadows are thin and clover is short. The first crops of alfalfa yielded 1.1 tons to the acre, and with the recent rains the second crop is now in thrifty condition. Where there are good stands of clover the second crop is promising. Only frequent rains and good growing weather have made possible the yields of hay that are now being cut in the face of conditions on June 1. The condition of 88 per cent indicates a hay crop in Wisconsin 16 per cent below the 5-year average tonnage.

RAINS HELP OATS, BARLEY
The condition of small grains is one of the very favorable developments of June weather. Oats and barley responded quickly to rains of early June, and although headed out in short straw the thrifty color and the way the grain is filling promise good yields. In eastern Wisconsin north of Milwaukee heavy yields are in prospect. In many fields in southern Wisconsin rain came too late to overcome the damage that had been done by drought, and yields in this section will run lighter. The condition of 88 per cent for the Wisconsin crop is two points above the average for this date.

Except in southern counties, June weather has permitted barley to make good heads, fill well, and give promise of favorable yields. Rye has filled well and the crop will be of good quality. Thin stands are chiefly responsible for a low yield. The condition of this crop on July 1 was 73 per cent compared to the average condition of 83 per cent, and with a smaller acreage the harvest promises to be 25 per cent below last year. Winter wheat in common with rye made improvement during June, and spring wheat is above the average.

NEW RECORD IN CATTLE SALES

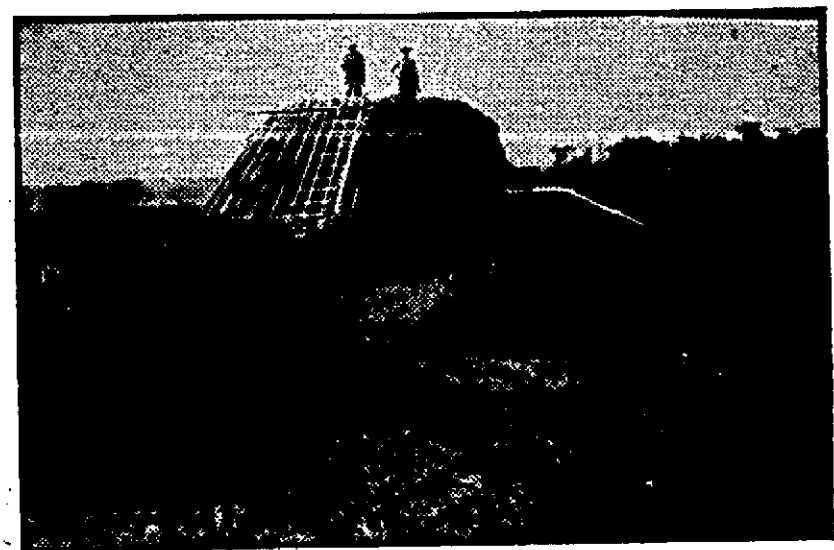

Shipments Out of State Exceed All Years—East Takes Many, Some to Hawaii

By Associated Press
Madison—More dairy cattle were shipped from Wisconsin to other states during the first six months of 1925, than for the same period for any other year, estimates compiled by the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin show.

Increased orders from states along the Atlantic seaboard, particularly New York, helped materially to swell the total. Other eastern buyers were from New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Maryland, Connecticut and Virginia. During the month of June, approximately 3,000 head were shipped out of the state. Illinois was the heaviest buyer, taking nearly half of the total. Farmers in Minnesota and Iowa were also heavy buyers. During the six months period, Mexican buyers purchased 211 grade animals, and 135 purebreds were shipped to the Hawaiian islands for foundation stock in establishing and improving breeding herds. Shipments were from all sections of the state.

Here's One Good Crop Of Alfalfa In County

This chop of alfalfa on the farm of Hans Anderson, Greenville, is one of the encouraging signs of what for a time seemed to be an extremely backward year in Outagamie-co. Mr. Anderson is realizing this exceptionally fine yield from common alfalfa seed sown two years ago. Most of it is on tilled bottom lands.

The yield from the first crop will be about two and a half tons an acre. Mr. Anderson has about 30 acres all about as good as shown herewith. He makes a practice of seeding about 15 pounds of alfalfa seed and 3 to 4 pounds of timothy. All seed is inoculated before planting.

Alfalfa yields this year, in spite of the tremendous amount seeded a year ago, probably will be less than in 1924, according to estimates made by R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent. This condition is due to the winter killing and a dry spring, he says. Most of the new seeding will be short on the first crop, but with continued good weather, the second crop promises to be larger than the first.

Although the acreage of barley is somewhat less than it was before farmers became acquainted with Mr. Volstead, the condition of the crop at the present time points to the total production of a wet year. Instead of raising barley for parched throats as they did before the countrywide "drouth" set in, farmers are now raising the grain for hog and cattle feed.

The stands of rye in a few fields, owing to winterkilling are very thin but other fields of excellent stands and growth will probably keep up the average yield of former years for this crop.

Corn in most fields last week was knee high, as it should be. Splendid stands are the rule and the fields look thrifty. A bumper crop of corn is in prospect.

Early canning peas fell below the yield predicted several weeks ago from the stands, the luxuriant growth and the healthy condition of the fields. The late crop looks as if it would not only make up the loss but surpass all former records made by peas since the pea-raising industry was introduced into Outagamie-co.

Elm scale, brought over on nursery stock from Europe, has attacked practically every kind of elm and has been spreading rapidly through the country.

It can be controlled, however, more easily than other diseases because the insects have only one generation a year.

COUNTY GIVES INDICATIONS OF LIBERAL CROPS

Shortage of Hay Will Be Felt in Fall, However, if Second Cutting Is Short

BY W. F. WINSEY
Except in the case of pasture and hay crops in Outagamie and contiguous counties are looking good and promise a yield much above the average for the past ten year period.

This season twice as many acres as last year are required by each animal for pasture but the worst feature of the shortage of pasture and hay at the present time is that on account of thin stands of June grass, timothy and wild grasses, due to the winter-killing of these and clovers and alfalfa, a second crop is out of the question generally.

In the fall, therefore, is the time that the shortage of grass will be most keenly felt by dairymen unless new seedings can be completed and the yield will run from a half-ton to a ton and a half to the acre. The average yield will not be much above one ton to the acre.

The present prospect is, however, that the shortages in hay and pasture will be more than offset by big crops of oats, barley rye and corn. While a few fields of oats were struck with rust during the recent muggy weather, the great majority of them are in tip-top condition and promise bumper yields.

Although the acreage of barley is somewhat less than it was before farmers became acquainted with Mr. Volstead, the condition of the crop at the present time points to the total production of a wet year. Instead of raising barley for parched throats as they did before the countrywide "drouth" set in, farmers are now raising the grain for hog and cattle feed.

The stands of rye in a few fields, owing to winterkilling are very thin but other fields of excellent stands and growth will probably keep up the average yield of former years for this crop.

Corn in most fields last week was knee high, as it should be. Splendid stands are the rule and the fields look thrifty. A bumper crop of corn is in prospect.

Early canning peas fell below the yield predicted several weeks ago from the stands, the luxuriant growth and the healthy condition of the fields. The late crop looks as if it would not only make up the loss but surpass all former records made by peas since the pea-raising industry was introduced into Outagamie-co.

NO PAY FOR T. B. CATTLE UNLESS BARN ARE CLEAN

Government Makes Sweeping Ruling in Connection With Area Tests

Farmers in Outagamie and Waupaca counties who expect pay for tubercular cattle discovered in the area tests which are being made this summer will receive this indemnity only on condition that they obey a new and sweeping sanitation rule just announced by the United States department of agriculture.

This new order has been sent by the bureau of animal industry to all inspectors in charge of tuberculosis eradication in all states. In effect it requires a thorough clean-up and disinfection of premises on which tubercular cattle have been found by official testing before the government will pay any indemnity for such cattle. The bureau requires its inspectors in charge to certify that "the premises have been properly disinfected and all lawful quarantine regulations have been complied with."

MUST FURNISH PROOF
Such certification must accompany each claim for payment before the owner of tubercular cattle can be paid the indemnity for them as provided by law in the interests of eradicating tuberculosis from the livestock of the country. As a thorough clean-up is necessary before disinfection can be properly performed, the new decision is an important step forward in livestock sanitation.

Experience and scientific knowledge both point to the danger of continued tuberculosis infection, even after reactors are removed from a herd, in cases where disinfection of premises has been neglected or performed in a half-hearted manner. As a consequence there is the likelihood of more reactors to pay for a few months or years later. This does not appeal to federal officials as good business nor as the proper cooperation on the part of stock owners for whose benefit the indemnity has been provided.

The far-reaching effect of the decision may be judged from the extent of the tuberculosis eradication campaign, which in the last seven years has become an extremely important department project. Between half a million and a million cattle are being tested monthly, with the number of reactors running close to 20,000 in recent months. In an average month's work the tuberculin test is applied to the cattle on about 50,000 premises.

Failure to clean up and disinfect the stable and other parts of the premises where tuberculosis infection may be lurking will mean indefinite postponement of the federal indemnity for reactors found. In the opinion department officials and field workers, an indirect future effect of the ruling will be a better type of barns constructed with a view to

How simple is the correct way of heating with oil! All complicated mechanisms, hot plates, pots, drip buckets, continuous pilot lights—all these are done away with. With Oil-O-Matic there is no part inside your furnace or boiler. Nothing to burn out or replace. The Williams Thermal Safety Control automatically check each part, each time the burner starts and stops. Everything must work perfectly or nothing can work. This way of oil heating makes it simple to change from coal to oil. But the changes brought about are tremendous. With Oil-O-Matic heat you never have to give a thought to your heating plant. Everything is done automatically for you. Your house is heated better than it ever was with coal or gas. Oil-O-Matic is a greater convenience even than running water or electric light, because it relieves you of more burdensome work.

This explains why Oil-O-Matic today is the world leader, outselling all other oil burners regardless of price. Sales, in fact, are so heavy now that we fear a serious shortage this fall. If you want to enjoy Oil-O-Matic heat this fall when a coal fire is hard to regulate, we urge you to act now. A small down payment protects you and terms may be extended over a year if you prefer. The FLAPPER WIFE by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE, INC.

How could she tell Dick the truth about Stan Wayburn?

How could she tell him that there had been a time when she would gladly have married Stan if he had asked her to . . . but that he had not asked her.

How could she tell him that there had been a night a year ago when she had cried for hours because Stan had left town without saying goodby to her?

That there had been weeks and weeks afterward when she had tried not even to think about Stan . . . much less talk about him?

And that even now when she was a married woman, he had only to look into her eyes to make her forget everyone else in the world . . . even Dick himself?

How could she tell Dick that? She just couldn't.

And anyway, it was none of his business!

Dick's voice broke in upon her thought.

"You said last night that you'd had a sort of childish love affair with Wayburn," he said. "Did you ever care for him as much as you do for me?"

Glory drew a long breath.

"No wonder you're a good lawyer, Dick!" she said. "You can think up more questions to ask a person than anybody else in the world. I'll bet!"

Yes, I did think a lot of Stan one upon a time . . . but it wasn't in the way I care for you."

She got up and walked over to the window. She did not want Dick to see her face. She felt as if all her thoughts were written on it for him to read.

"Just how much do you care for me?" His voice was bitter.

"You ought to know . . . I married you, didn't I?" Glory asked.

She turned from the window and sat on the arm of Dick's chair. She laid her cheek on his dark hair. She was just a bit afraid of Dick when he was in a suspicious mood like this.

Then she kissed him. That, she knew, was the surest way to remove all doubt of her from his mind!

"You see, Dick," Glory went on, "I knew, from the minute I met you, that you were going to be my husband. And in the same way I always knew that Stanley Wayburn and I were never going to be more than playmates. . . . A girl always sizes men up that way!"

"And just how long were you and Wayburn . . . playmates?" Dick asked.

"Oh, for two or three months last winter . . . just before I met you," the girl answered. "Look here, Dick, I don't cross-question you about every girl you ever were in love with before you married me! What are you trying to get at, asking me all these questions?"

Glory laughed nervously.

Dick turned in his chair and took her in a grip of iron.

"I'll tell you what I'm trying to get at," he said. "I'm trying to get at the truth about this Wayburn. . . . the man I saw leaving. . . . He was Wayburn, wasn't he? You lied to me when you said he was a decorator from the furniture store, didn't you?"

Glory struggled in Dick's arms. Her soft and yielding body had become a bundle of steel wire.

"You let me alone!" she panted.

"I won't!" Dick said stubbornly. "I won't, until you've told me whether the fellow you had in this house that day was Wayburn or not!"

"It wasn't Stan Wayburn!" Glory cried. "And you know it! Haven't I told you a dozen times that it was the man about the lampshades?"

Dick freed her.

Glory saw that he believed her lie.

"I'm sorry," he said slowly. "But I would have sworn it was Wayburn. . . . You'll have to forgive me, Glory. I'm so damnably jealous of you."

Glory tied her head up in a towel. She began to lather her face with cold cream.

"I should say you are jealous!" she agreed. "If you're going to think that every interior decorator or bill collector who comes to this house is Stan Wayburn, we'd better separate right now!"

She walked into the bathroom.

"My bath water's all cold now," Glory grumbled. "I was already to

ATHLETICS GAIN FULL GAME ON WORLD'S CHAMPS

Sisler's Homer Helps Beat Senators, While Pirates Retain Lead

Loss of Walter Johnson Made More Acute by Suspension of Reuther for Razzing Umpire

New York—The Athletics were a game closer to the pacesetter Senators Tuesday while the Pirates continued to keep their distance from the Giants.

In Philadelphia's triumph over Detroit, 4 to 1, Quinn held the Tigers to five hits.

Sisler's homer for the Browns in the ninth beat the world champions, 5 to 4, and permitted the Meekens to pull up to within two and one half games of the peak.

The loss of Walter Johnson to Washington caused by tonsillitis was made more acute by the announcement that Walter Reuther, southpaw twirler, had been suspended by President Ben Johnson of the American League for an argument with Umpire Geisel.

Kent Greenfield limited the Cubs to four hits while the McGraw clan topped Chicago, 3 to 1.

Meanwhile the Pirates snatched a 4 to 2 victory from the Robins in a ninth-inning rally which netted three runs.

The Phillies forced the Cardinals to yield, 3 to 2, after ten innings, on a double and a pair of singles. Rogers Hornsby hung up his twenty-third homer of the season.

Errors and free passes paved the way for the Braves' downfall to Cincinnati, 4 to 1.

The White Sox beat the Yankees, 8 to 4, in spite of Lou Gehrig's homer with Babe Ruth on first in the fourth inning. Cheering news came to supporters of the Yankees, however, in the report that the Colonial Ruppert's scouts were ransacking the minor leagues for new material with particular success on the Pacific coast, where five prospects are hanging fire.

The campaign for new players involves $250,000.

The Red Sox broke through to a 12 to 11 victory over the Indians.

GOLF As Champions Play It

An all around athlete can benefit by watching an expert.

CAN THE AVERAGE PLAYER BENEFIT BY WATCHING THE SCRATCH PLAYER IN COMPETITION?

BY WILLIAM MEHLHORN Western Open Champion 1924

This all depends on whether the average player is good in other sports. If the average player is good in every branch of sports he can learn a great deal by watching a top notch golfer, as his muscles have remained flexible and he can soon develop a fine rhythm resulting from coordination of every muscle in the body. This, however, does not mean that the player who has been poor in other sports cannot learn to play golf. With a good instructor who will build his game around rigid muscles, he can learn almost equally as well as others.

CHICAGO GOLF ACE MAKES NEW WESTERN MARK

Dexter Cummings Shoots 68 Over Lochmoor Course in Tournament

By Associated Press Detroit, Mich.—Dexter Cummings of Chicago made a new amateur course record in the Western Amateur tournament over the Lochmoor course Monday, shooting a 68-34 strokes going out and 34 coming in.

Cummings twice was intercollegiate champion while playing for Yale.

F. E. Wattles and Joseph Bydolek both of Buffalo, took temporary leads with 74. Fate was against L. A. Montedonico, of Memphis, medalist in the recent southern championship, for he accidentally played the wrong ball on the fifteenth hole and disqualified himself. He scored 8.

Donald Carrick, Canadian champion, had a fair 75, taking one more than on the first half and two more on the second.

Good scores were returned by many but the par of 72 for the 6,780 yard links puzzled the players when they tried to better it over a flat and apparently open course. Difficulties bobbed up in unexpected spots and added strokes to otherwise good totals.

The big gallery as usual followed Chick Evans, of Chicago, playing with Art Sweet, another Windy City star. The weather was perfect for golf with no wind and a warm hazy atmosphere.

For Monday's round—L. L. Bredin, Detroit, 39-36-75; A. B. Diederich, Detroit, 37-38-75; S. C. Snow, Detroit, Rapids, 39-40-79; J. D. Standish, Detroit, 35-41-76; M. D. Thomas, Grand Rapids, 35-40-75; J. D. Standish, Detroit, 40-39-79; C. A. Taylor, Detroit, 39-40-79; James A. Manion, St. Louis, 39-34-73; Billy Sixty, Milwaukee, 39-36-75.

Beloit Refuses to Play Waukesha College Because of Freshman Rule

Waukesha—Eight football games for the 1925 gridiron season have been arranged by Carroll college, here, according to an announcement by the college athletic office.

The leading games are with Lawrence and Ripon college. Beloit college dropped from the Carroll schedule again this year, because of differences over the enforcement of the freshman playing rule.

Schedule of games: Sept. 27—Great Lakes Naval Training Station at Carroll. Oct. 2—Carroll at Milton college, Milton.

MARKSMEN WILL COMPETE FRIDAY

Trapshooters Try for Prizes and Get in Trim for Milwaukee Tourney

Marksmen of Appleton and the vicinity will have a chance to try for a number of valuable prizes at the registered shoot of the Appleton Angling and Shooting club Friday afternoon and at the same time to get into shape for the sixth annual Great Lakes zone tournament of the Amateur Trapshooters association at Milwaukee next week. The Milwaukee tournament will be held at the Lake park traps and will continue through four days, from July 23 to 26, inclusive.

There will be seven events in the registered shoot here Friday, which originally was scheduled for July 20, but set ahead because of the Milwaukee tourney. Six of the events here will be singles, and the seventh a double.

All targets will be registered. An entrance fee of $2 will be assessed for each event, and the money will be divided on the percentage system. Targets will be included and deducted at the rate of 2 1/2 cents each, for singles and doubles. The registration fee will be 50 cents.

MENASHA RIVERVIEWS SEEK SUNDAY CONTEST

Menasha Riverviews are looking for a game Sunday afternoon. They are willing to play any strong industrial or city team either at Menasha or outside. Teams desiring a game for Sunday are requested to telephone 93 Menasha.

FIGHT MOGULS WILL PROBE TITLE BOUT

Newark, N. J.—The New Jersey boxing commission is going to investigate a title match between Paul Berlingbach of New York and Young Marullo of New Orleans which was stopped in the ninth round Monday night for stalling.

Frequent clinches brought action from Referee Henry Lewis. The principals appeared bewildered when the contest was halted. Berlingbach keeps his light heavyweight crown but the promoters are withholding

YANKEE SCOUTS COMB PACIFIC COAST LOOP

New York—Officials of the New York American league baseball club admitted Monday that scouts were combing the Pacific Coast league in an endeavor to buy $250,000 worth of talent for a complete rebuilding of the Yankees next season. Five players prominent in the Coast league were mentioned as being sought by the Yankee scouts.

PREDICTS NEW RECORD IN BROAD JUMP

DE HART HUBBARD, LEFT, AND NED GOURDIN, WITH ACTION PICTURE OF HUBBARD. De Hart Hubbard, University of Michigan track star, and Ned Gourdin, Harvard ace, recently met in Boston. The pair, undoubtedly the greatest colored athletes in collegiate history, have starred in the same line of endeavor—the 100-yard dash and the running broad jump. Hubbard has set a record of 26 feet in the latter event, but predicts that this mark will be exceeded.

Negro Track Star Is Out To Break Own Jump Record

Boston—Two of the greatest colored athletes in the history of collegiate athletics, one from the east, the other from the west, recently met in this fair city and talked it over.

De Hart Hubbard, famous University of Michigan star represented the west, while Ned Gourdin, former Harvard celebrity, was the eastern entry.

Hubbard is the holder of the world's broad jump record of 25 feet, 10 1/2 inches, made recently in a big college meet at Chicago.

IN SAME EVENTS Ned Gourdin was the first broad jumper to do better than 25 feet. His best effort was in the last Harvard-Yale-Oxford-Cambridge games, in which he cleared 25 feet 3 inches.

It is a rather interesting fact that these two great colored athletes starred in the same line of endeavor, the 100-yard dash and the running broad jump.

Hubbard, who recently graduated from Michigan, does not intend to give up athletics as reported. He seeks to become a writer on track athletics, and feels that the contact which he gets with the stars in actual competition will serve as excellent material for his articles.

Gourdin had the faculty of developing a kick in the air just as he was about to land, thereby getting all possible distance to his jump.

SEVEN I. A. C. STARS TO COMPETE ABROAD Seven athletes of the Illinois Athletic club have sailed for Europe, where they will participate in a number of meets. They figure on being away three months on a trip of 21,500 miles in 13 countries. The personnel of the team includes Harold Osborne, P. W. Jones, Ed Evans, Ray Dodge, George Stevenson, Ivan Riley and Herbie Schwarze.

PRINTERS HAND CHAIR CO. TEAM 14 TO 5 LACING

Wagner Allows Chairmakers but One Hit Up to Eighth Stanza Monday

STANDINGS Post-Crescents 9 1 .900 Y. M. C. A. 4 3 .571 Bankers 4 4 .500 Footfitters 2 4 .334 Meyer Press 1 3 .330 Chair Co. 1 6 .143

Holding the tallend Chair Co. scoreless and with but one hit up to the eighth inning Monday afternoon, the Post-Crescents boosted their standings another notch by handing the Chairmakers a 14 to 5 drubbing. Wagner pitched a fine game up to the eighth and had excellent support in the field. In the eighth the Chairmakers staged a rampage that did not end until they had run up five tallies.

The Post-Crescents got an early start, sending one run across the rubber early in the opening stanza. The second inning failed to bring any more runs, but in the third the Printers slammed Lockin all over the lot for eight tallies. They topped five more in the fifth, but after that failed to add to their advantage.

MacIntyre started in the field for the Post-Crescents with five putouts to his credit. Bentle's speed on the bases was instrumental in scoring at least two runs when he twice stretched singles for three bases.

The next game in the City Twilight league will be played Wednesday afternoon between the Bankers and the Footfitters.

DOPE BOBBY JONES FOR TOUGH BATTLE

New York—A month ago the experts were predicting that Bobby Jones, the Atlanta artist, would have pretty much of a walkaway in defending his national amateur golfing crown at Oakmont.

But sentiment favoring Jones to repeat has been steadily changing of late. And the Georgian is now doped to be in for a tough struggle. The strong comeback of Jess Oetser and Farnes Oulmet have sort of clouded the Jones outlook, while the recent fine showing of Freddie Lamprecht, the intercollegiate monarch, leads many to believe that he will make things somewhat interesting for the titleholder.

The far west is also expected to trot out a coterie of stars capable of causing a bit of trouble in the coming session.

KIMBERLY MILLERS SWAMP REFORMATORY

Kimberly—Clark Millers of Kimberly Saturday were the guests of the Green Bay Reformatory, where they handed the Reformatory team a 15 to 4 drubbing in exchange for its hospitality. Good fielding played a big part in winning the game, for the prisoners got to Smith and Klundt for nine hits. The Millers swatted the hostile pitcher for 15 hits. Courchane slammed out four of these, one of them a two-bagger. Verbeten and Schueler each got three, two of Verbeten's being for extra bases.

The score by innings: Kimberly-Clark 2 0 2 0 1 0 0 3-15 G. Bay Refmaty 0 1 0 1 2 0 0 6-4

On Saturday the Kimberly-Clark team will play the Fox River Paper Co. outfit at Brandt park here.

TRAFFIC IN FOX VALLEY BIGGEST IN WHOLE STATE

Appleton and Fond du Lac Report Heaviest Traffic Counts in Wisconsin

Traffic counts taken July 4, in various cities of this part of the state show that highway 15 is easily the most traveled road in this section of Wisconsin. In Appleton the count showed 7,246 vehicles passing out of or into the city on highway 15 between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 11 o'clock at night. The census was taken at the corner of N. Leminwah-st. and E. Wisconsin-ave. Traffic through Fond du Lac on highway 15 was even heavier than it was through Appleton on the holiday. A total of 8,153 vehicles were counted just out of the city limits of Fond du Lac on the stretch between Fond du Lac and Oshkosh from 6 o'clock in the morning to 11 o'clock at night. This is 907 more vehicles than were counted on the same highway at Appleton.

Waupaca, with a population of only 3,000 reports a record traffic count for July 4. A census taken on highway 22 at Waupaca showed 6,292 vehicles using the road that day. Over 10,000 vehicles were counted at the junction of state highways 22, 18, and 54, a mile and a half west of the Waupaca city limits. The heavy traffic census in Waupaca is attributed to the popularity of the Chain o'Lakes as a place for many people to spend weekends.

Traffic along the west shore of Lake Michigan was not as heavy over the Fourth as it was in this part of the state. A count taken in Sheboygan on Highway 17, the road which follows the lake shore showed 4,954 vehicles on this highway.

Manitowoc counted 3,409 vehicles on highway 17 during the Fourth. Both the Sheboygan and Manitowoc counts were taken during the 11 hours from 6 o'clock in the morning until 11 o'clock at night.

Janesville reports a record count of vehicles for that city. The total number of vehicles counted on highway 13 between Beloit and Janesville between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning and 11 o'clock at night was 8,700. Not a single horse drawn vehicle was included in this count, showing old Dobbin's unpopularity in the southern part of the state. The count taken in Appleton showed a gain of 2,000 over the census of July 4 in 1924. Only two horse drawn vehicles were included in the Appleton total.

ALESCH PROMOTED TO MANAGE KINNEY STORE

By Alesch, son of Mrs. K. Alesch, 1218 W. Eighth-st., has been promoted from assistant manager of the G. R. Kinney Shoe Co. store in this city to the manager's job at the company's store at Oshkosh. Mr. Alesch left Monday to assume his new duties. George Schultz, 923 W. Packard-st., a clerk at the local store has been promoted to the assistant managership to fill the place left vacant by Alesch's advance.

Is Your House Cheating You?

Warmth in Winter, Coolness in Summer

IS YOUR home an ice box in winter and a fireless cooker in summer? Then learn about Flax-li-num, the sheets of felted flax that are built into walls and roof to make houses warm in winter and cool in summer. For a house is like a thermos bottle once Flax-li-num is installed.

It becomes easy to heat by preventing the loss of inside heat thru walls and roof. It is warm and cozy on the coldest days of January. And on hot July nights upstairs rooms remain refreshingly cool. Flax-li-num stops heat and cold from passing thru like rubber stops electricity.

Why Flax-li-num is the Ideal Building Insulation

We chose flax as the ideal heat resisting material because it is the toughest, most durable fibre that science knows. These fibres are so interlaced that in the finished form they contain an infinite number of tiny ceiled air spaces—little cells that resist the passage of heat or cold to the greatest degree.

Because this material must stand the strain of new buildings settling, it is made in semi-rigid sheets, easy to put in place, and permanent as the walls themselves. There are more houses lined with Flax-li-num than with all other insulations combined.

Flax-li-num is carried in stock in all sizes for ready distribution to home builders by the following dealers:

Standard Mfg. Co.
Graef Mfg. Co.

This is a cross section, actual thickness of a sheet of 1/2 inch Flax-li-num. No material thinner than this can really protect houses against heat and cold.

SPECIAL TRAINS TO LEGION MEET

Wisconsin Legionnaires Plan to Attend National Convention in Omaha

Many Wisconsin veterans of the World war are planning to attend the national American Legion convention at Omaha October 5 to 9, according to Austin A. Petersen, state adjutant. Arrangements for a special train to Omaha were made by the Wisconsin legion transportation which met last week in Milwaukee. Five Wisconsin legion bands already have made arrangements to attend the convention from this state, and several others will probably go. The bands which have already completed plans to attend are those of Milwaukee post No. 1, Racine, Kenosha, Eau Claire and Cadott.

The Florida delegation to the convention will lead the parade this year, will sit in the front at the convention hall, and enjoy the bridal suites at the hotels. The place in the parade and in convention seating is dependent upon the percentage membership of the state. Wisconsin will be sixth in the parade this year. Last year Wisconsin was fourth in the convention parade. This does not mean, however, that legion mem-

SCOUTS HAD AUTO BUT PREFERRED TO HIKE

Even though they had an automobile to convey them all the way, 16 boy scouts in American legion troop No. 4 hiked 14 miles in hot weather to the new east shore scout campsite for the weekend. They were in charge of Harry Mory, scoutmaster. Hay Fever, the boy scout truck, was used for the journey to a point seven miles from the camp. The boys had a 14-mile hike pending as one of the requirements for promotion in scout rank and therefore decided to have the test over with.

They parked the truck, took their luggage and hiked seven miles Saturday to the campsite. They spent the night there and enjoyed various amusements and on Sunday afternoon hiked seven miles back to the truck, then finished the trip home abroad it.

berships have fallen off in Wisconsin during the last year, but due to the fact that a number of states which had a small membership in previous years have substantially boosted their membership, and consequently their percentage during the last year. The Wisconsin membership was increased by 800 members over last year. New Mexico will have second place in the parade, Nebraska third, Wyoming fourth, and Oregon fifth.
